THOS. MORITZ, Postmaster.

Protective Order of Elks, closed a three nights' fair in Central Hall last night. The hall was handsomely decorated, the national colors predominating, and there was a large and liberal patronage. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weeks conducted a profitable restaurant. Mrs. Charles G. Bierwielers and Mrs. Wm. Johnson, in charge of the fancy booths, were kept busy all the time.

The wheel of fortune was well patronized and two genuine (?) gypsy maidens came from Elizabeth and pitched their tents among the "wearers of the horns" and did a large business.

Mrs. George B. Tucker, who secured chances on a handsome Elks' watch fob, contributed by Mr. Tucker, took in over $100, while Mrs. Frank C. Bucher was kept busy taking down names of persons who took chances on a pretty sofa pillow made by herself.

The ton of coal contributed by J. Richard Maxwell, for which his young daughter Sadie sold chances brought $15, and was won by John Porton. Wm. Johnson won the quilt.

Music was furnished by the Birch Orchestra. Miss Kate Saile coaked men to buy flowers, and Mrs. Z. G. Wood and Mrs. Charles F. Hummel handled the miscellaneous booth and made large sales.

Mrs. Morris Snyder presided over the candy table and was ably assisted by Mrs. Harry Z. Stryker. Mrs. Noah Hampson sold ice cream and cake in large quantities, while Mrs. Daniel Schleich disposed of countless bottles of perfumery and fancy soap. Mrs. George B. Nuttman was at the cigar counter.

Helene Scherff celebrated the fifth anniversary of her birthday on with a pretty party, which took place at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Troeber, No. 34 Almira street, Saturday afternoon. A happy group of little children from this town, Newark, the Oranges, Passaic and New York were present and enjoyed a merry afternoon playing games. Refreshments were served. The Misses Rosina Boyd and Norma Scherff acted as maids to the children.

As Others See It.

A bill providing for the annexation of Bloomfield to Newark is before the Legislature, and there seems reason to fear that it will become a law. It will probably contain a referendum clause, which will be some protection to Bloomfield, but that such annexation is a serious menace to the progress and prosperity of that town is quite generally recognized. One of the institutions of which Bloomfield is specially proud is its public school system, which could hardly fail to be damaged by annexation. The teachers in the schools are prompt to see this danger and to seek to protect their own interests, and this is shown by the fact that a number of the best teachers in Bloomfield have already sought and secured engagement for next year in this city, and the Board of Education has under conideration a long list of other applicants from the same town.—East Orange Gazette.
